

• Charlie Bailey-Ryall

- Head of Production and Infrastructure

Career Path

2003 - 2007

Parkstone
Grammar School

2007 - 2012

Hamworthy Combustion

- Apprentice
- Development Engineer
- NVQ L2&3 @ Bournemouth & Poole College
- HNC @ Bournemouth & Poole College
- FdSc @Bournemouth University

2012 - 2017

Tradebe Inutec

- Project Engineer
- Proposals Engineer
- Project Manager
- 1st Class BEng (hons) @ Bournemouth University

2017 - Present

ATLAS ELEKTRONIK UK

- Project Manager
- Team Leader
- Head of Production and Infrastructure

Atlas Elektronik Apprenticeships

Roles across the entire business – Production, Supply Chain, Finance, Project Management, Quality Assurance, Engineering (electrical and mechanical), Software, Business Support

Apprentices are seen as the leaders of the future and are offered:

- Continued training and learning opportunities
- Career progression
- Social activities
- Awards and recognitions
- Mentors

Exploring use of the levy to support existing employees through further education. Courses include Research Scientist Level 7, HR Level 3, Product Design and Development Engineer Level 6

21

Apprentices in 2023 cohort

51

Apprentices since 2018 – the vast majority of all apprentices have gone on to secure permanent roles within the business

9

Employees currently furthering education via levy