There is no one size fits all when it comes to a workplace experience programmes. Consider what suits your business and the young people attending

Tips:

- Obtain short tasks from employees and create a bank of activities in advance that can be used for all future opportunities
- Ask staff members to put aside 30mins to speak to the young person. If on a 2 hr visit, then you could offer this a carousel or speed networking type activity
- Consider the skills you require most in your organisation and where possible create a practical activity for the young people to practise and develop these skills
- Allow the young people to experience all aspects of your organisation to give them an all round experience. You never know where inspiration might strike!
- Create a programme in advance and ensure that all employees are aware even if they are not involved in the day
- Get feedback from the young people and school staff at the end of the visit to help inform your programme for the future
- If you run team building days or assessment centres, feel free to include any appropriate ice breakers or activities from these
